

IDENTIFICATION

Eligibility for an agreement is based on the corresponding author's affiliation

After an article has been editorially accepted, the corresponding author must complete the payments and rights journey:

**if the coverage request is rejected, authors must either pay for open access using other funding or publish their article using a subscription model*

IDENTIFICATION

Email invite to complete identification process

Once the article is editorially accepted by the journal, the corresponding author receives an email invitation to complete the identification process and specify their affiliation

The corresponding author acts on behalf of all the other authors for this article. They are responsible for reviewing and accepting the terms of the publishing agreement, and for arranging any payment if required

SPRINGER NATURE

Dear Dr. Charles Darwin,

We're delighted that your article has been accepted for publication:
'The zoology of the voyage of H.M.S. Beagle'.

You now need to:

- Provide details to help us check whether your article processing charge (APC) is covered by your institution or a journal partner.
- Read and accept your publishing agreement.
- Make a payment if the APC is not covered.

If you want to publish subscription, instead of open access, there will be an option to do that in the following steps.

Continue with publishing your article:

<https://publishing-and-rights.springernature.app/workflow/123>

Kind regards,
Springer Nature Author Service

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact our Author Service team at

Welcome message

If the author is potentially eligible for an agreement, they will see a welcome message that provides information

The author must be publishing an eligible article type in an eligible journal to request coverage. Authors who do not meet these requirements will not see the welcome message and can continue with the publishing process

If the corresponding author decides not to publish their article open access they can opt out, and publish their article behind a paywall (i.e. subscription model), if permitted under the agreement's policy

Confirm your eligibility status

Thank you for confirming your institution or university. Based on your selection, you have been identified as affiliated to the institution or university below.

▼ No, I do not want to publish open access

Check the conditions of your funding before choosing not to publish open access. Some funders require immediate open access (read about open access policy requirements).

By selecting this option you're choosing the subscription publishing route and you'll be accepting the journal's standard licensing terms, including embargo and self-archiving policies. These terms replace any others that anyone may declare to apply to any version of the manuscript.

If you do not want to publish using an open access agreement, let us know why. If there are multiple reasons, choose the option you feel most strongly about.

RIGHTS

Employment check and publishing agreement

Corresponding authors need to complete their publishing agreement, also known as license to publish (LtP)

The document outlines the rights of the author and Springer Nature in relation to the use of the article and confirms the author's eligibility to publish their article

To generate the correct license to publish, the corresponding author selects their employment status, then clicks 'Confirm'

Authors sign their license and can download a copy for reference, allowing them to continue with the publishing process

Agree to publish

Before we can continue with the publication of your article, we need you, the corresponding author, to provide us with permission to publish.

Some governments require a tailored publishing agreement. So we can generate the right agreement for you, tell us if either of these options apply.

Are you, as the corresponding author:

An employee of the United States Federal Government

An employee of the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Canada or Australia

Neither of the above

i If you, or part of your author group, are employees of:

- the European Commission
- an Intergovernmental Organisation (e.g. the IMF or World Bank)

You may need an alternative agreement. Please contact us.
